Christmas Gifts That are Useful

The government asks merchants in all lines to recommend useful articles to Christmas shoppers. We are glad to help the government in this way. Our store is filled with articles of an intensely practical nature. Jewelry is useful in making women more attractive. Each article of men's jewelry has utility as its chief purpose. Watches are extremely practical presents. Leather goods provide wide variety in serviceable articles. Coin purses, vanity cases and mesh bags are things a woman carries for use as well as beauty. Silverware, toilet articles, cut glass, and clocks suggest useful presents for the individual or the home. At Clinton's usefulness is the hand-maiden of beauty and quality. It is an ideal store for shoppers seeking utility and economy.

Lid on Again.

The churches had made arrangements for services Sunday, and the picture shows were ready to open Friday evening, when City Physician Dent issued an order Friday forenoon forbidding all public gatherings. Dr. Dent issued this edict in conformity with instructions from the state board of health received that morning. In this order the schools, however, were excepted. The health records of the city schools for last week showed that let two pupils had been detained at home because they were flu victims.

This small percentage of flu cases among the children can not, however, be taken as an index of the total number of cases in the city, for statistics of the disease show that the percentage of cases among children is small as compared with the number of cases found among people ranging in age from eighteen to forty.

It was stated yesterday that the number of flu patients in the city requiring the services of a physician did not exceed twenty.

Fred Hanlon Passes Away

Fred Hanlon, an old resident of the city, died Friday evening at 8:30 at his home on east Fourth street at the age of nearly seventy-four years. Mr. Hanlon had been in poor health for a year or more, suffering from affections of the heart and kidneys, and this later was followed by a paralytic stroke. From this latter he had, however, partially recovered, and up to a week prior to his passing away he was able to appear on the streets.

Mr. Hanlon had lived in or near North Platte for forty or more years. For twenty years he was employed as watchman on the Union Pacific bridge east of town, and later was employed as watchman at the Locust street crossing.

The funeral was held from the residence yesterday forenoon.

PAUL HARRINGTON FIGURES IN A MUSICAL COMEDY.

Paul Harrington, in the quartermaster's department at Camp Meigs writes that soon after his arrival he was asked to assist in a musical comedy and the first performance netted ten thousand dollars which was donated to the camp welfare fund. The comedy was later repeated and the receipts were thirteen thousand and this sum as donated to the United War Work fund. The company will go to Camp Meigs to play for three days.

The Camp in which Paul is located is small, having a capacity for 4,000 men, and is used for training quartermaster's units and officers. It is only a few minutes walk to the national capital and the down town section of Washington. The camp is nicely located, comfortable barracks and nicely parked. If you walk on the grass or disturb the flowers the guard house is your lodging place. He considers himself fortunate that he is located at Washington during war times and can see some of the workings of the government's vast machine.

Paul says he will not be with us for Thanksgiving but we can look for him on or before Christmas.

UNCLE SAM OPENS THE CHRISTMAS SEASON.

Uncle Sam says, "Speed up the Christmas selling." In order that it will not be necessary to keep stores open longer hours in December nor to employ additional help, Uncle Sam requests that we begin our Christmas selling season immediately. Carrying out this suggestion we announce our opening Christmas display for the week beginning November 25th.

Sensible gifts are in order this year. There are no flub-dubs, no silly trills nor foolish fancies in our wartime Christmas display. Solid, substantial, appreciated merchandise is the patriotic thing.

Do your Christmas buying at the earliest possible moment. Help us carry out Uncle Sam's order, so that there will be no congestion in the mails and no waste of extra heat and light during the holiday season.
